BLAZE AT HOME
OF EARL KITCHENFire of Unknown Origin Does Considerable Damage to Residence and Household Goods.

IN COLUMBUS AT THE TIME

House is Property of Mrs. John Flee-hart of Chicago—Insurance Will Cover Loss.

Friday, the thirteenth, is surely Earl Kitchen's unlucky day, for his household goods and the house in which he lived, at the corner of Perkins and Eighth streets, was almost completely destroyed by fire, which was discovered this morning at one-thirty o'clock. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is thought to have started in a closet in the central part down stairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Kitchen were in Columbus on a visit and the blaze was discovered by neighbors who sounded the alarm. Robert Tompkins was perhaps the first to notice the fire. Smoke coming into his residence awakened him and on investigating found it was coming from the Kitchen home. Mr. Tompkins called the fire department and just as they were about to start for the fire, the alarm sounded.

The firemen are of the opinion that the blaze had been smoldering for some time and finally burst through the roof. Several pieces of furniture were removed but the flames had gained such headway that it was almost impossible to enter the house. The most damage was done in the center of the house, directly over the closet and spreading out from it. Because of this the firemen think the fire started there.

The furniture which was not damaged by fire was damaged with water and Mr. Kitchen's loss will be heavy although it was insured. It was only by hard work that the house was saved from total destruction and for a time it looked as though several other houses were doomed. The house is the property of Mrs. John Flechart of Chicago, and it is stated that it was fully insured but it is not known the amount. Mrs. Flechart is here at present on a visit.

Mr. Kitchen has surely had his share of misfortunes this year. It was only last summer that the large chicken hatchery in East Eighth street belonging to him burned to the ground. In that instance he lost several hundred chickens and ducks and the property, valued at close to $1000.

INJURED AT HORSE SHOW

Buggy Strikes Auto in Race at Morristown.

Miss Nelle Curry, 22 years old, of Westland, was perhaps fatally injured at Morristown yesterday when a buggy in which she was riding collided with an automobile. Miss Curry was one of the contestants in the hitching and driving contests at the annual horse show and had hitched the horse to the buggy and started around the track, when her buggy struck an automobile standing on the track. The girl was thrown several feet into the air and fell on her head and shoulders. Her spine was badly injured and it is feared she can not recover.

SOME PUMPKINS, MR. GREGG

Horse Ran Away Scattering "Fruit"
Over Streets.

Pumpkins, pears and apples were scattered in the streets from the Park furniture factory to the Hiner livery barn yesterday afternoon when a horse hitched to a light wagon ran away from James Gregg. Mr. Gregg had 18 pumpkins, a bushel of pears and two bushels of apples in the wagon and when the horse stopped at the livery stable only two pumpkins, one pear and about a half bushel of apples remained.

PERMITS TO SEIN
BEING RECALLEDB. F. Kelley and W. E. Lanphere Here Today Taking up the Eighteen in Rush County.

ARE TAKING THEM ALL BACK

B. F. Kelley and W. E. Lanphere, deputy State game commissioners, were in the city today taking up the seining permits issued last spring. There are eighteen permits in the county and the deputy commissioners, acting under orders from State Commissioner Miles are collecting them. The permits would have been good until January 1 had they not been recalled. The permits are being taken up from all over the State as a result in the change of the policy of the officials. The object of the seining by permits was said to be a good one, but in many places was not carried out as should have been done.

HAD MAYOR SHANK
LOCKED IN JAILReleased on Promise to Send Chief Thomas McAllister a Bushel of Potatoes.

"SPUDS" MADE HIM FAMOUS

If Mayor Lew Shank of Indianapolis does not send Thomas McAllister, chief of the Rushville police force, a bushel of his famous potatoes from the first shipment he receives, there will probably be trouble in official circles.

Mayor Shank and Superintendent of Police Hyland of Indianapolis were here "Sherman day" and the local police chief led them on a tour of inspection of the court house and county jail and acted as their host during their stay in this city. Once he had the mayor of Indianapolis inside the heavy iron door at the jail, he deftly stepped out and closed the door behind him and locked it. The mayor begged to be released. He offered Chief McAllister five dollars and stuck a bill through the bars, but all to no avail. Finally they struck a bargain.

"I'll tell you what I'll do," said Mr. McAllister to the mayor, "I will free you if you will agree to send me a bushel of the famous Shank potatoes after the next shipment arrives."

"Sold," shouted the mayor. "It's a bet. You get a bushel of my potatoes soon and let me out of here quick."

The mayor has been "busting" the market in Indianapolis and lowering the high prices charged by the Indianapolis commission men by shipping in potatoes and selling them in market.

COOL WEATHER
BRINGS CHANGEPedestrians Take Sunny Side of Street to Keep From Suffering With Shivers.

IS BLOW TO STREET LOAFER

Farmer Busy Gathering His Late Crops and Soap Year's Harvest Will Be O'er.

Things have changed in Rushville. The sunny side of the street has become popular. With passing of days summer has come and gone again, and for the next six or seven months the sunny side of the street will be more popular than the shady side. The summer of 1911 is a matter of history and the middle month of fall is at hand. Coal bins are being replenished, winter clothes pressed, repaired and made ready to wear. Even those without a last year's "this or that" are busy getting a new "outfit" together. The awning and wire-screen men are closing up shop and the coal man is beginning to smile. The first snow that flies, and that will not be far in the future now, will see the coal dealers bubbling over with joy.

The great mass of humanity in this part of the country is engaged in preparing for the long cold months. Savings will soon be brought forth for the winter's supply of clothes, food and fuel. Nature is taking on its winter's mantle and man must follow in her footsteps.

The mercury no longer hovers about the 100 degree mark, nor the nineties, either. It has been as low as 41 degrees above zero in the last few days. This is but nine degrees above the freezing point. While there has been no frost yet, one is expected daily.

The squirrels are gathering their stores for the winter. A trip to the timber now is very interesting. This is the time of the year to learn much about nature, the birds and wild animals.

The farmer is busy gathering his corn and other late crops and soon the year's harvest will have been taken care of. The farmer is hauling coal and wood to the farm and the product of the farm to the city.

In the city all buildings and improvement work will soon cease until the coming of May days again. Folks have returned from vacations and are hard at work once more. The theaters have opened. The clubs are meeting and the social whirl has started.

The return of cold weather has proven a blow to the street loafers. Rushville has had an unusually large number of men who have been about the court house yard and public square the last few months. A number of these were men who have retired from active life and come to heart of the business district of the city to talk with old acquaintances and to argue. Arguments were held daily for several weeks in that court house yard. Not only were positions on the wooden benches at a premium, but many places scattered about on the lawn often. The cooler weather of the last few days has driven these men from their usual haunts. The benches are deserted and the custodian of the court house and yard will soon have them put away in winter quarters.

Another evidence of the approach of winter is that tramps are journeying southward and while a short time ago several of the "wandering Willys" could be seen every day, but few pass this way now. They are ahead of the frost and will move on toward the south ahead of cold weather.

MISUNDERSTOOD
HIS STATEMENTSJames E. Watson Gives Out Interview Explaining Nip and Tuck Club Speech.

HE WAS MISREPRESENTED

Had no Intention in Remarks Made to Reflect Moral or Business Integrity of Richmond.

James E. Watson of this city while in Indianapolis yesterday gave out an interview to the Indianapolis Star explaining some statements attributed to him in the Indianapolis News. The Star says:

James E. Watson, former representative from the Sixth district, and host to Vice-President James S. Sherman at Rushville and New Castle Tuesday and Wednesday, made a statement yesterday in Indianapolis to explain some remarks attributed to him, which he asserted, misrepresented what he actually said at New Castle with reference to some of the politicians of Wayne county and Richmond.

Mr. Watson, speaking in the sacred precincts of the Nip and Tuck Club at New Castle Wednesday expressed with freedom his private opinion of some of the politicians of the city of Richmond. Newspaper men were present, and an afternoon paper here published what purported to be a quotation from Mr. Watson's speech on Richmond people. Of this purported reproduction of his remarks Mr. Watson says:

"In order to understand the remarks one must understand the Nip and Tuck club. This is an old organization, the object of which is to have fun. Reporters are never supposed to be present and this is the first time in its history that the club's purported speeches have been reported or even hinted at. It is like the Gridiron Club at Washington, in this respect.

"The speeches yesterday were somewhat on the vaudeville order, and fun and frolic abounded, every speaker illustrating his remarks by some choice stories.

"In the course of my remarks I said something about the political jackasses of Wayne county and Perry J. Freeman of Richmond remarked 'There are no political jackasses in Richmond.'

"To which I responded: 'Great heavens, did you bring them all here?' or 'Are they all here?' or some such remarks.

"I further said they did not bring all the political frauds and humbugs from Richmond, as their auto would not hold them all, as I believed there were more frauds and humbugs, politically speaking, in that city than in any city of my acquaintance.

"I had no intention, in the remark made to reflect on the moral or business integrity of the people of Richmond; and, while my speech and all the other speeches, were made in jest and in a spirit of fun and frolic, I am entirely willing to restate that portion of my speech which has reference to the political situation in the city of Richmond, speaking, of course, from my own viewpoint as a steadfast Republican.

"My friend of the Indianapolis paper says that the remark of Watson certainly indicates that Watson is not a candidate for office. I am certainly glad that something has brought about that conclusion, for my repeated declarations to that effect seem not to have 'soaked in' with some of my newspaper friends.

"In this connection I desire to state that the meeting at Rushville was not originated by me for the purpose of booming myself as a candidate for office, but solely in the interest of party harmony and for the general good of the Republican party."

An auto traction line is now in operation between Greenfield and Fountaintown. The auto truck carries 12 passengers and makes connection at Fountaintown with the I. & C. cars leaving this city at 7:00 a. m., 12:07 p. m. and 4:07 p. m. The running time between Greenfield and Fountaintown is 30 minutes. The line also makes connections at Maxwell for New Castle and at Pendleton for other points.

TUG OF WAR WILL BE PULLED OFF HEREAnderson Township Team Has Challenged Rush County For Contest During Horse Show.

CLAIM TO BE THE CHAMPIONS

The undefeated champions of Rush county, the Anderson township tug-of-war team has challenged Rush county for a contest during the annual fall horse show which will be held here Wednesday and Thursday of next week. The officials of the horse show have accepted the challenge and will pick the team to meet the Anderson township champions. There are seven men on the Anderson township team and they have a chip on their shoulder that they believe no one can knock off. It is expected that a hotly waged contest will be pulled off between the Anderson townships and a local team during the show. The date for the event has not been set nor the team has not been picked yet.

RUSHVILLE IS TO BE CONGRATULATEDConnersville Examiner Comments on "Sherman Day" And Marvels
at Big Crowd Gathered Here.

TRIBUTE TO CLUSTER LIGHTS

After receiving the activities here on "Sherman Day" the Connersville Examiner says:

Rushville is to be congratulated upon the way she takes care of her visitors and the enterprise shown by her citizens. Connersville people were greatly impressed by the appearance of the city in the downtown portion, which is lighted by the cluster light system. The town has a metropolitan appearance and this city could well afford to install the system here.

Another thing that impressed the Connersville visitors was the way people came to Rushville from all parts of the county and merchants reported that they did an excellent business all day. This is another feature that ought to appeal to Connersville merchants and business men and move should be started to get up some attraction to bring people here during the middle of the week. It is good business.

The meetings held by the two parties were very profitable ones and everybody was well repaid in making the trip over.

BITTER AGAINST SECESSIONISTSRepublican of June 26, 1861, Property of S. B. Laughlin, Denounces Enemies in Rush County.

JUST AFTER OPENING OF WAR

Says They Will be Put Down Even if Force Must be Used—Interesting Features.

Probably the oldest copy of the Weekly Republican in Rush county is the property of S. B. Laughlin of Milroy. It was printed on Wednesday, June 26, 1861. The paper is almost perfectly preserved and is beginning to grow yellow from age only in a few places.

The sheet is a very unique one. It is very different from the Republican today in that many advertisements as well as the publisher's subscription rates appear on the front page. The editor and publisher at that time was Andrew Hall.

Mr. Laughlin prizes the paper especially because five of the seven columns of the front page are devoted to an article written by him concerning a trip which he made through western Texas in the fall of 1860. The company consisted of C. A. Laughlin, the brother of the writer, the writer himself, Mr. Magoffin, proprietor of the train, Mr. Norton of San Antonio, Texas, twenty-one Mexicans, twelve teamsters, the driver of the ambulance, and seven herds-men, whose duty it was to herd the mules. It required thirty-eight days for the party to travel from San Antonio to El Paso, Texas.

The train which the Milroy man traveled with consisted of twelve road wagons, drawn by ten mules and each bearing about two tons. Besides the 120 mules used in pulling the wagons, fifty were taken along to be used in cases of emergency or in case some were stolen. The ambulance was taken along to haul any member of the party who chanced to take sick and to carry the lighter provisions.

In the first column of the paper where newspapers of today carry their best story of the day are professional and business cards. In that column appear the much familiar names as Leonidas Sexton, attorney and counsellor; George C. Clark, attorney and counsellor at law; William O. Sexton, attorney and counsellor at law; Jefferson Helm, Jr., attorney at law and counsellor; Dr. Marshall Sexton; I. N. Harris, dentist, and H. A. Norris, dentist. In the same column is the name of Miss Hattie Hendrick, who advertises that she was a mantua maker. Mantua is a kind of silk or a woman's cloak or mantle which is not in general use now.

The issue was published shortly after the outbreak of the civil war, when the people of the North were beginning to argue the question and those in Indiana who sympathized with the South were brave enough to hold meetings. The question of secession was a live issue at this time as is evidenced from the following editorial from the Republican:

"We have reason to believe that the secessionists of Rush county have been secretly organizing in nearly all the townships. They hold regular dark lantern meetings; and in two instances the places and times of meeting, as well as those who have participated, have leaked out. The result of this dark lantern organization of traitors has been seen in our streets. Sympathy for the Rebels and disloyalty to the government has been boldly avowed on the corners. Members of the Rush County Guards while here visiting their friends, have

Lesson III.—Fourth Quarter, For Oct. 15, 1911.

Text of the Lesson, Ezra i, 1-11; ii, 64-70—Memory Verses, i, 3, 4—Golden Text, Mic. vii, 18—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

As we turn to the story of the return from Babylon some words come to mind such as these: "Every purpose of the Lord shall be performed," "Whatsoever the Lord pleased that did He," "He worketh all things after the counsel of His own will" (Jer. ii, 29; Ps. cxxxv, 6; Eph. i, 11).

Compare the previous chapter, verses 21, 22, and the words of the Lord Jesus in Luke xxiv, 44. "All things must be fulfilled which were written in the law of Moses and in the prophets and in the psalms concerning Me." All the predictions concerning the captivity of Israel and Judah were fulfilled, and now under Ezra and Nehemiah the predictions concerning the return from captivity are to be fulfilled, God controlling the hearts of kings to bring it about. Just as surely shall all predictions concerning a still future restoration be fulfilled, and they shall then be plucked up no more nor see evil any more. Neither shall they weep any more (Amos ix, 15; Zeph. iii, 15; Isa. xxx, 19). The Lord shall be their everlasting light, and the days of their mourning shall be ended (Isa. ix, 20).

He is quite able to accomplish all that He has purposed, and it is our privilege to walk with Him and see Him do it. If we are abiding in Him He may use us, but He will work out His eternal purpose, and He cannot fail nor be discouraged (Eph. iii, 11; Isa. xlii, 4). He may use a Cyrus or Darius, an Ezra or a Nehemiah, but He is ever saying, "I will work, and who shall hinder it?" (Isa. xliii, 13).

Cyrus is one of the seven men mentioned by name before they were born. Isaiah speaks of him as God's chosen one over 150 years before he came on earth (Isa. xlv, 28; xlv, 17), just as Josiah was mentioned by name and some things that he would do about 300 years before he was born (I Kings xlii, 2; II Kings xxiii, 15-17). How inspiring are the words, "I am God, and there is none else; I am God, and there is none like Me, declaring the end from the beginning, and from ancient times the things that are not yet done, saying, My counsel shall stand, and I will do all My pleasure." "Known unto God are all His works from the beginning of the world" (Isa. xli, 9-11; Acts xv, 18).

It was the Lord who stirred up the spirit of Cyrus, the king, to send Ezra and the people back to Jerusalem to build the house of the Lord God of Israel, and it was He who stirred up the hearts of all who went back (verses 1, 5). Cyrus acknowledged that it was the Lord God of heaven who had made him ruler over the kingdoms of this world and had charged him to build the house at Jerusalem (verses 2-4), and he called for volunteers to go up and do this, commanding those who did not go to help in every way those who went.

It is all important to notice this, for the church seems to have forgotten it and is giving itself up to schemes of every kind to draw money from people who are not interested and who have no part in the Lord's work, not being children of God. Notice in Ex. xxxv, 5-29; xxxvi, 7, that the material for the tabernacle had to be willingly offered, and they brought so abundantly that Moses had to ask them to stop bringing, as more than enough had come in for all the work.

Concerning the temple, David said, "I have prepared with all my might for the house of my God, because I have set my affection to the house of my God." He also said, "Who am I, and what is my people that we should be able to offer so willingly after this sort, for all things come of Thee, and of Thine own have we given Thee" (I Chron. xxix, 2, 3-14). A willing mind is everything, and God asks no one to give or to do that which He does not give them the ability to give or do (II Cor. viii, 12; I Pet. iv, 11). The love of Christ is the one constraining power.

Think of the 5,400 vessels of gold and silver which had been seventy years in the hands of the enemy, now about to be restored to Jerusalem (verses 7-11). Notice also the nearly 50,000 people (verses 64-65), and consider the restoration that is to be from all lands, both before and after the coming of the Messiah in glory, that Israel may blossom and bud and fill the face of the earth with fruit (Ezek. xxxvi, 24, 25; Isa. ix, 9; xxvii, 6; Ps. lxxvii, 1-7).

In chapter ii, 59-62, we see the necessity of being on the books and can understand better the force of Luke x, 20; Rev. xx, 15. If not registered on the Lamb's book of life there is no kingdom for us. But "whosoever will" may take the water of life freely, and "him that cometh" shall not be cast out, so that all who have heard may be registered if willing. Vessels suggest people, for we are spoken of as earthen vessels, and vessels meet for the Master's use (II Cor. iv, 7; II Tim. ii, 21), and we must be as content to be earthen as to be silver or gold, to be second sort as well as first (chapter i, 10, 11). Then in verse 9 we read of nine and twenty knives, and cutting things abound on all sides, all for our good, and to manifest in these mortal bodies the life of Jesus Christ (Rom. viii, 28, 29).

(Copyright, 1910, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.) The Return from the Captivity, Ezra, i:1-11; ii:64-70.

Golden Text—He retaineth not his anger forever, because he delighteth in mercy. Micah, vii:18.

(1.) Verses 1-2—Who was King Cyrus and what were his character and achievements?

(2.) Where were the Jews as a people, at the opening of this lesson, and what were the circumstances which took them there?

(3.) How do you account for it that Cyrus, immediately when he began to reign over Babylon decided to release the Jewish captives and to rebuild the Temple at Jerusalem?

(4.) What reason can you assign for a king, not a Jew, having such a direct message from God?

(5.) If the religious history of every nation from the beginning of time could be fully known, should we have in essence a repetition of Bible history?

(6.) Verses 3-4—What class of people do we depend on chiefly, to build churches and support missionaries?

(7.) What motive does Cyrus appeal to, for building the Temple at Jerusalem?

(8.) What good is accomplished by the vast sums of money spent in building and supporting churches?

(9.) If all people are obligated to give money to support the cause of religion, what is the least they should give?

(10.) Verses 5-6—Are ministers today under obligations to take the lead by precept and example in religious enterprises, without waiting for any special spiritual leading?

(11.) When persons willingly help in God's cause, are they without exception, "them whose spirit God had raised?"

(12.) When we undertake giving or doing for the cause of God, why is it safe to conclude that God specially appointed us thereto?

(13.) Verses 7-12—What is the were the circumstances which brought the gold and silver vessels to Babylon from the first Temple at Jerusalem?

(14.) When a man gives lavishly of precious treasure to the cause of God is that always, or generally, a proof of his love for God?

(15.) Chap. ii, Verses 64-70—What number of people returned to Jerusalem, and what was the number originally carried away to Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar? (See 2 Kings xxiv:14.)

(16.) What were the religious and financial conditions of the people when they were originally deported, and when they returned?

(17.) What general effect had their captivity had upon them?

(18.) Which ministers more to the character of the average man, prosperity or adversity? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 15, 1911.

Topic.—Why I believe the Bible.—Rom. x, 17; xv, 4. (A memory meeting.) Edited by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

Personal belief in the Bible as the divinely inspired word of God is an absolute essential to faith in the Christian religion. He who doubts or denies that the Bible is the infallible word of God has no sure foundation upon which to rest his faith. It is therefore a matter of profound satisfaction and worthy the deepest gratitude to God that the proofs of the inspiration of the scriptures are so comprehensive and so convincing. In no heart need there be any doubt. "The testimonies of the Lord are sure."

The Bible claims to be the divinely inspired word of God. This claim is made for both the Old and New Testament scriptures. "Thus saith the Lord" is a very common preface to the words of the Old Testament by the writers themselves. New Testament writers also ascribe inspiration to the Old Testament. Of these writings it is said, "Holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost." Paul speaks of "all scriptures" (the Old Testament) "given by the inspiration of God," and the author of the book of Hebrews refers to God as "having of old time spoken unto the fathers in the prophets." Christ, being divine as well as human, spoke as God, and the Holy Spirit revealed unto the apostles what they have written in their epistles. To deny this claim is to cast reflection upon the truthfulness of the Biblical writers themselves. Moreover, this claim to inspiration has been conclusively proved by every test of faith and of reason. Because God spoke to men through men it is no less the voice of God that speaks in His word, and it should be accepted and obeyed, because it is the infallible word of God.

1. The fulfillment of prophecy sustains the Biblical claim to inspiration. The New Testament repeatedly calls attention to the fulfillment of Old Testament prophecy, and in the history of the Christian centuries we see the prophecies of the New Testament fulfilled. But God only could know what would transpire hundreds of years before the event, and He alone could reveal these events to man.

2. The unity of the Bible substantiates its claim to inspiration. The Bible consists of sixty-six books, written by men of various professions and positions, extending over a period of 2,500 years. Yet it is essentially one book. The directing influence of one mind is apparent from Genesis to Revelation. But that one mind could not have been human. It must have been divine, and it was the mind of God.

3. The Bible has stood the test of centuries of criticism. No other book has had so many powerful enemies. No other book has ever been so seriously attacked. Emperors, kings, artists, philosophers, skeptics, have assailed it with the desire of destroying it, but every attack upon it has only increased its popularity. No merely human book could ever have withstood the assaults that have been made upon the Bible, and hence the fact that the Bible has withstood these attacks is proof that it is more than human—in other words, divine.

4. The Bible meets all the needs of the human heart. It is universal in its application. It finds a response in every land and under every clime. It is reasonable to suppose that a divine revelation would be suitable to all men, and since the Bible is of such a character and is the one book in the world that is we may accept it, as it claims to be, the inspired word of God.

Saviour, Thou Alone Canst Keep.

This hymn was written on the spur of a moment on Young's million dollar pier, at Atlantic City, during the international Christian Endeavor convention, held there in July.

H. H. Rottmann, the field secretary for the great northwest, asked John R. Clements, the Christian Endeavor song writer, to send him some day some verses that he might sing in his work to the old tune of "Silver Threads Among the Gold." The two men chatted a moment and parted. Within half an hour the hymn had been written. It was sung by Mr. Rottmann the same night, just preceding a masterful address on "Missions" by the former vice president of the United States, Hon. Charles W. Fairbanks.

Saviour, Thou alone canst keep These Thy frail and erring sheep Sheltered in Thy fold of grace. Make for each a helpful place.

How Many Men Know How to Keep in Par.

Thousands; yes thousands of men, grow old 10 years too soon.

If you are a man and realize that your efficiency is on the wane and that you are losing money and happiness in consequence, get a 50 cent box of M-I-O-NA stomach tablets today and take two after or with each meal for three days; then take one with each meal regularly until you feel well and vigorous.

M-I-O-NA stomach tablets disinfest, tone up, restore elasticity to the stomach and intestinal canal and end indigestion. They do more: They increase the nutrition of the body and in case of nerve exhaustion, sleeplessness, night sweats, bad dreams or any condition that requires a restorative they act with astounding rapidity. They can be found at F. B. Johnson & Co. and helpful druggists the world over.

Just Try a Ten Cent Box of Cascarets

Insures You For Months Against a Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation or a Bad Stomach.

Put aside—just once—the Salts, Cathartic Pills, Castor Oils or purgative waters which merely force a passageway through the bowels, but do not thoroughly cleanse, freshen and purify these drainage or alimentary organs, and have no effect whatever upon the liver and stomach.

Keep your inside organs pure and fresh with Cascarets, which thoroughly cleanse the stomach, remove the undigested, sour and fermenting food and four gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have a Headache, Biliousness, coated tongue, Indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipated bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.

Moving pictures have not altered the demand for the theater that shows real folks as they are in real life.

The tremendous vogue of moving pictures, however, is such that a journey that begins in a Pullman car sometimes ends in a pedestrian tour over the railroad ties.

But the moving picture show "puts it all over" the barn stormer type of company. The reproduction of stage work through picture films is far less expensive, and the evening's entertainment appeals to a wider range of human interest.

With the coming of frosty evenings and the close of the base ball season, the theaters begin to fill up.
A great army of players, from the growing stars of tragedy and comedy down to the latest bit of froth from Broadway, is getting out on the road.

The public is sick of the tearing of a passion to tatters by men and women who would have made good blacksmiths or nursemaids, but for more brainy, penetrating, and scintillating genius that the stage, and all but the few possessing such genius should have their coat tails forcibly pulled by kind mammas.

The victory of Wabash over the "Boiler-makers" of Purdue proves that insurgency is still rampant in Indiana.—Indianapolis Sun.

That is the Sun's conception of insurgency. Wabash is a small school and Purdue has a very large enrollment. It is the fellow who has no chance who joins the ranks of the Insurgents. Well, it's not so bad for the Sun.

The meaning, object and purpose of so many laws passed by the late Democratic legislature is so uncertain that attorney general Honan is kept busy giving official opinions as to what is meant. He seems to be equal to the emergency, however.
Beginning February 1, one month after he took charge, he has written to date, with the aid of his assistants, 110 official opinions to various offices and departments in the state government and has earned the title of "Write-'em-while-you-wait" Hon-nan.

"The Star will be absolutely independent in politics and its support, in the main, of President Taft will be based upon the conviction that he is "making good." This does not mean that it will be considered necessary either to praise him when he does wrong or to apologize for his mistakes."

The Indianapolis Star printed the above and the Columbus Republican comments as follows:

The Indianapolis Star, through its new management, serves to its readers, that no longer may it be considered a Republican newspaper.
During the period it and its namesakes at Terre Haute and Muncie were in the hands of a receiver, there were marked indications of the three papers being straight-out Republican publications. But not so now. The publishing company which now controls the three newspaper properties, has doubtless concluded to gauge the political policy from the counting room, and the announcement is made that the independent principle will be adhered to with a slight leaning toward Republicanism
—if the quality happens to be pleasing at the time. In other words, the Stars will become journalistic free lances and the management is honest enough to say so at the outset.
Republicans ought to remember this fact and not be deceived into the belief that criticism of Republican policies which will doubtless appear from time to time in those papers, is the kindly criticism of a genuine Republican paper working to uphold the tenets of the Republican party, but rather the ill-natured growls from a self-appointed monitor of political morals, actuated primarily from the counting room Republicans will keep this in mind and will thus be able to place no fictitious value on what may appear in the editorial columns of the Stars. Democrat papers will of course gleefully quote adverse criticism from that source as coming from publications reliably Republican.

This is merely to put Republicans and others who read the Stars on their guard.

BITTER AGAINST SECESSIONISTS

been made subjects of insolent and disparaging remarks.

"Gentlemen Secessionists! You are endangering the peace of this community. Traitors are endeavoring to overthrow the government of our fathers, and the loyal people of the Union are trying to sustain it. If you sympathize with the Rebels, go to them and fight for them, if you please. They will be put down whether you give them your aid or not.
But do not, if you value your lives, attempt to seduce Rush county or the State of Indiana for their loyalty to the Union. You can hold your sentiment without fear of molestation, but mark it, organized bands of traitors, doing the hellish work of plotting destruction of our Union and Constitution, will be put down in Rush county, as well as in South Carolina, and if need be by force.
The rights of opinion, of free speech and a free press, guaranteed by our Constitution, will be respected by those who are endeavoring to maintain it; but those who are endeavoring to subvert that Constitution may,
by their acts, forfeit those rights, and the protection of the American flag may not be given to those who desire to see it trampled in the dust.
We say beware!"

The spirit of secession must have been ripe at about the time this issue of the Republican came from the press, for another article relating to secessionists appeared in the paper as follows: "Parson Brownlow pitches into a Secessionist in his locality in the following lively style:
In my last issue, I found it necessary to denounce Sperry of the Register, as a liar, a contemptible puke, and the tool of scoundrels. He has since chastised me with four columns of newspaper abuse. This authorized the additional charge that he is a coward, even if I were not in possession of the facts that one of our citizens flogged him after night, in a grocery, but recently. Signed, W. G.
Brownlow."

The paper was filled with talk of the war and warnings to secessionists. It was undoubtedly a red hot issue at that time when even the merchants discussed it in their advertisements. One reads like this:
"Union Meeting at Rushville! We have heretofore been silent in regard to the secession movement, but the crisis is so near we feel in duty bound to call the people together,
'one and all,' without regard to party,
to examine our large stock of fine groceries."

Another ad reads like this: "The war has begun but notwithstanding that R. D. Manzy & Co., northeast corner of Main and Ruth streets, Rushville, Ind., will keep constantly on hand a large and well selected assortment of goods of the latest fashions."

Apparently it is no fable about the manner in which the editors of the olden days had to beg for their subscription money. An editorial in this issue of the Weekly Republican proves conclusively that the editor was in close straits at one time and had to make a last call for funds.
The editorial reads something like this:

"Unless we receive considerable 'material' soon we will be compelled to suspend the Republican by the first of the year. If one hundred of our subscribers will step forward with money, which by our terms should have been paid six months ago, we can—with other probable receipts—continue to the end of the year without difficulty."

It is an evident fact, after glancing at the front page of the Weekly Republican, that the editors of those days had high ideals for newspapers.
Across the top of the front page appeared the following: "A Weekly Newspaper, Devoted to Politics, the Current News of the Day, Agriculture, a Pure and Select Literature, the Arts and Sciences, Family Reading and all Current Matter of General Interest."

Indiana Newspapers Comment on "Sherman Day" at Rushville

Some very favorable editorials have appeared in Indiana papers since "Sherman Day" here, a few of which are reproduced.

The Shelbyville Republican says:

If there was ever an entertainment of the thought that the Republican party was in a hypnotic condition in the Sixth district or any other district in the state of Indiana or elsewhere, such thought must necessarily have been disputed by any one who attended the rousing meeting held by the Republicans at Rushville Tuesday and last night.

The meeting was the result of the efforts of James E. Watson and to him must be given the greater credit for its great success.

The slogan was "Republicans united and aggressive," and the Chautauqua auditorium was filled to the roof. The orators were from all the elements of the Republican party and with all present animated with the sincere desire for the success of the party the meeting was markedly successful as a forerunner of Republican success. The large auditorium was made to ring with old time Republican cheers, such as were heard in the days of yore, and when the band played "Come On Along," the audience of 2,500 went wild, and the lungs of many a man was tested as they had not been for several years.

Says the Indianapolis Star: Promoters of the Rushville love feast are certainly to be congratulated upon the large attendance obtained and the fine enthusiasm that prevailed.
It would seem that the defeats of the past four years have operated to arouse Republicans generally to the necessity of united action and diligent effort if the supremacy of their old party in Indiana is to be restored.

With much that was said by the speaker The Star is not in accord.
This applies principally to Mr. Cannon's defense of the Payne tariff bill.
It has cost Mr. Cannon the speakership and the party its control of the House, to say nothing of the seats in the Senate and Governors' chairs now occupied by Democrats in Republican states. Such chance as the party has for success in 1912 depends not upon Mr. Cannon and his standpat views but upon the extent to which the party is identified in the public mind with progressive policies.

The main thought of the meeting,
however, was the interment of party differences and support of President Taft. These topics have long been the theme of these columns and still shall be. The election of Messrs.
Shively, Marshall and Kern was achieved not by Democratic but by Republican voters, who slaughtered their ticket or else stayed at home.
To get out the Republican vote of Indiana next year will be to carry the state. An essential condition of this result is activity in the campaign and at the polls. Support of President Taft is to be commended, both because it is right and just and because it is the natural and the only ground upon which the fight in 1912 may be logically and successfully made.

The Seymour Republican says:
"Taft in 1912, Republicans United and Aggressive" was the slogan at the big Republican meeting at Rushville when vice-president Sherman was the guest of honor. That is a slogan that the party in the state should keep constantly before it during the next few months. It is one that will meet the approval of all and if lived up to will lead to certain victory. The enthusiasm and the indications of a desire for harmony which were in evidence at Rushville show that the Republicans are alive and ready for active business.

The Connersville News adds: Republicans are asking themselves, and Democrats too, are somewhat concerned to know, from whence causes the unquestioned Republican enthusiasm that is manifest here and that is equally manifest in other parts of Indiana. It will not do to say that this or that person aroused it, for that would be equivalent to saying that the Republicans as a body are susceptible of being swayed by every political wind that blows, a charge that is given the lie by history. It might be explained on the theory that love endureth longer than anger. Every true Republican loves his party for its grand achievements in behalf of American humanity. But even true Republicans are subject to human passions. In so great a work as the party has achieved and in the long series of victories it has won, opportunity has been offered for errors to creep in and in some instances for human greed to manifest itself. These have been made into mountains of wrong in appearance by the enemies of the Republican party and too many believing all that was said grew angry, and resentful.

Time, the great healer, however, is doing its work. Such Democratic legislation as has been done or attempted breeds only pity or contempt in the eyes of thinking men. In a word resentment for the minor sins of which the Republican party may have been guilty, has died out and reason is again enthroned.

The New Castle Courier carried the following:

Tuesday was "Sherman day" at Rushville and most royally was it observed. The day was given to entertainment and welcome, to which all of the citizens contributed and in which all shared. At night a "smoker," so-called but it would have been unfortunate had all of the 2,000 or more men present been smokers, was held at the chautauqua coliseum. It was designed to be a Republican meeting and there was no disappointment to even the most ardent partisan present.

The speeches of Watson, Sherman, Crumpacker, Hemenway, Gulley and Cannon sounded the keynote of Republican thought to responsive hearers. "Taft in 1912" was the slogan and readiness to enter into the campaign with a determination to win was the only possible interpretation of the enthusiastic responses by the audience to the strong arguments and appeals of the speakers.

It was indeed a great meeting, great from every point of view in numbers, in character and in outcome, a meeting in which no adjectives were needed to qualify or designate a brand or leaning, but a meeting in which every man answered to the one name Republican and stood ready to pledge his best efforts to maintain the principles and policies of the Republican party as evolved and made effective for the prosperity and glory of the country through a long line of leaders extending from Lincoln to Taft.

"Amen," hearty and strong, was the response of the people, and "so mote it be."

BIBLE QUESTION CLUB LOCKING UP

Contest in Answering the Suggestive Questions on Sunday School Lessons is Open to All.

OBJECT IS TO AROUSE INTEREST

The Daily Republican's Bible Question Local Club is looking up and the paper is much encouraged. It is very remarkable how these questions interest, even the general public. It is a mistake to suppose, as some do, that this contest is confined exclusively to adults. Bright boys and girls can take up these simple studies and may comply with the conditions as well as their seniors, and are just as likely to win a solid gold medal or one of the other prizes. The prime object of the Bible Question Club is to get old and young to reading the Sunday school lessons, and to ponder the Suggestive Questions. It must not be forgotten that in answering questions it is legitimate to get all the help which is necessary. Anybody can cut out and sign the coupon each week, and can read the lesson and the questions. This does not take skill, but it does take method, and it means the unspeakable benefit of reading these studies from week to week. You will find it to be of a great benefit to join some Bible class, and get the help and enthusiasm which comes from company.

BRIEF ILLNESS IS FATAL

Russell Jones, 11 Years Old, Succumbs at Home of Parents.

Russell Jones, the eleven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jones, died at four o'clock this morning at the home of his parents, south of Orange. He had been ill since last Saturday, suffering with obstruction of the bowels. Besides his parents, one brother, one sister and a half brother survive. He was a grandson of Eli Jones of this city. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at one o'clock in the Orange Christian church, conducted by the Rev. Clyde S. Black. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery. Short services will be held in the chapel about three o'clock.

AGED WOMAN PASSED AWAY

Mrs. Elizabeth Ross Died Shortly After Noon Today.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ross, 82 years old, died shortly after noon today at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. William Roth, near Gowdy. Mrs. Ross had been ill for over a year suffering with a complication of diseases. She was a well known and highly respected woman and had lived for some time at the Roth home. Her husband has been dead for a number of years. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

HOME-COMING SERVICES.

Home-coming and rally day will be observed Sunday at the Second M. E. church with special services. The Rev. T. T. Carpenter of Muncie will preach both morning and evening and at three o'clock in the afternoon the Rev. C. S. Brown of Connersville will deliver a sermon. Special music has been arranged and the home-coming is expected to draw a large crowd.

The second of Mrs. Donnan's lectures on the drama will be given Saturday, October 14, at half-past two, at the Graham school. The room in which the meetings are held is large and there are still a few seats if any wish to join.

Those who hear Mrs. Donnan from year to year wonder how it is possible for any one who always does so well to do better each time, yet many who heard her the 30th of September, said she excelled herself that day.

The second lecture will be preceded as usual by a half hour's talk on new books. This will be followed by a discussion of what it is that makes a play literary or non literary. Then there will be a comparison of the "Oedipus Tyrannus" of Sophocles and Ibsen's "Ghosts."

"The Store That Satisfies"

THE GIRL from HIS TOWN

By MARIE VAN VORST
Illustrations by M. G. KETNER

(Copyright, 1910, by The Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

"I think you are crazy," the duchess exclaimed.

But Blair repeated: "That's all right. I mean to say as far as I am concerned—"

And, Galorey, in order to stand by the lady, murmured:

"My dear chap, you have been dreaming."

But Blair met the Englishman's gray eyes with his blue ones. "I did have a bottle of champagne, Gordon, that's a fact, but it couldn't make me see what I did see."

"Dan," the duchess of Breakwater broke in, "let Gordon take you home. He is a dear. You're really ragging in a ridiculous way."

Blair looked at her steadily, and as he did so he repeated:

"That's all right, Lily, Gordon cares a lot, and the truth of the matter is that I do not."

She grew very pale.

"I would have stuck to my word, of course," he went on, "but we'd have been infernally unhappy and ended up in the divorce courts. Now, this little scene here of yours lets me out, and I

GROWS HAIR ON BALD HEADS

Bald-Headed People May Get a New Chance in Life.

In these days when youth is the moving factor in business, when a man makes his mark at thirty-five and is ready to retire at forty-five, when business houses pension the man we call "middle aged" rather than allow his lagging influence to intrude upon the commercial rush, a bald head is almost fatal to any man's hopes. The following must therefore prove interesting to people who are losing their hair or who are bald.

Resorcin is one of the latest and most effective germ killers discovered by science, and in connection with Beta Naphthol, which is both germicidal and antiseptic, a combination is formed which destroys the germs which rob the hair of its nutriment, and also creates a clean and healthy condition of the scalp, which prevents the development of new germs.

Pilocarpin is a well-known agent for restoring the hair to its natural color, where the loss of color has been due to a disease of the scalp. Yet, it is not a coloring matter or dye.

This combination of curatives mixed with alcohol as a stimulant perfects a most effective remedy for hair and scalp troubles.

The famous Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is chiefly composed of Resorcin, Beta Naphthol, and Pilocarpin. It helps to make the scalp healthy, to nourish the hair, to stimulate the follicles. Where the hair is already gone, it enters the follicles, revitalizes the roots, supplies nourishment, and stimulates a new growth.

We want you to try a few bottles of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, on our personal guarantee that the personal guarantee that the trial will not cost you a penny if it does not give you absolute satisfaction. That's proof of our faith in this remedy and it should indisputably demonstrate that we know what we are talking about when we say that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will grow hair on bald heads, except, of course, where baldness has been of such long duration that the roots of the hair are entirely dead, the follicles closed and grown over, and the scalp is glazed.

Remember, we are basing our statements upon what has already been accomplished by the use of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, and we have the right to assume that what it has done to hundreds of others it will do for you. In any event you cannot lose anything by giving it a trial on our liberal guarantee. Remember, you can get Rexall Remedy in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store, Lytle's Drug Store, Corner Main and Third streets.

don't lay it up against either of you." "Gordon!" she appealed to her lover, "why, in heaven's name, don't you speak!"

The Englishman realized that while he was glad at heart, he regretted that he had been the means of her losing the chance of her life.

"What do you want me to say, Lily?" he exclaimed with a desperate gesture. "I can't tell him I don't love you. I have loved you, God help me, for ten years."

She could have killed him for it.

"I can tell you, Dan, if you want me to," Galorey went on, "that I don't believe she cares a penny for any one on the face of the earth, for you or me."

Old Dan Blair's son showed his business training. His one idea was to "get out," and as he didn't care who the duchess of Breakwater loved or didn't love, he wanted to break away as fast as he could. He sat down at the table under the light of the lamp and drew out his wallet with its compact, thick little check book, the millionaire's pass to most of the things that he wants.

"You've taught me a lot," he said to the duchess of Breakwater, "and my father sent me over here for that. I have been awfully fond of you, too. I thought I was fonder than I am, I guess. At any rate I want to stand by one of my promises. That old place of yours—Stainer court—now that's got to be fixed up."

He made a few computations on paper, lifted the pad to her with the figures on it, round, generous and full.

"At home," he said, "in Blairtown, we have what we call 'engagement parties,' when each fellow brings a present to the girl, but this is what we might call a 'broken engagement party.' Now, I can't," the boy went on, "give this money to you very well; it won't look right. We will have to fix that up some way or other. You will have to say you got an unexpected inheritance from some uncle in Australia." He smiled at Galorey: "We'll fix it up together."

His candor, his simplicity, were so charming, he stood before the two so young, so clear, so clean, that a sudden tenderness for him, and a sense of what she had lost, what she never had had, made her exclaim:

"Dan, I really don't care a pin for the money—I don't—but the hand she held out was seized by the other man and held fast. Galorey said:

"Very well, let it go at that. You don't care for the money, but you will take it just the same. Now, don't for God's sake, tell him that you care for him."

He made her meet his eyes this time: stronger than she, Galorey forced her to be sincere. She set Dan free and he turned and left them standing there facing each other. He softly crossed the room, and looking back, he saw them, tall, distinguished, both of them under the lamplight—enemies, and yet the closest friends bound by the strongest tie in the world.

"Dan, I Really Don't Care a Pin for the Money—I Don't."

As Dan went out through the curtains of the room and they fell behind him the duchess of Breakwater sank down in the chair by the side of the table; she buried her face. Gordon Galorey bent over her and again took her in his arms, and she suffered it.

CHAPTER XX.

A Hand Clasp.

It was one o'clock. Blair called a hansom and told the driver to take him to the Carlton, and leaning back in the vehicle he breathed a long sigh. He looked like his father, but he didn't know it. He felt old. He was a man and a tired one and a free one, and the sense of this liberty began to refresh him like a breeze over parched sand. He thought over what he had left for a second, stopped longest in pitying Galorey, then went into the Carlton restaurant to order some supper, for he began to feel the need of food. He had not time to drink his wine and partake of the cold pheasant before he saw that opposite him the two people who had taken their table were Letty Lane and Poniotowsky. The woman's slender back was turned to Blair, and his heart gave a leap of pain at the sight of the man with her, and the cruel suffering began again.

Dan gave up the idea of eating; drank a whole bottle of champagne, then pushed it away from him violently. "Hold up," he told himself, "you're getting dangerous; this drinking won't do." So he sat drumming on the table looking into the air. When those two got up to go, however, he would go with them; that was sure. He could never see them go out together again; no—no! As his brain grew a bit clearer he saw that they were having a heated discussion between them, and as the room emptied finally, save for themselves, Dan, though he could not hear

AFTER FORTY YEARS

Camden, S. C., Woman Recovers
From Stomach Trouble.

No one who is not well nourished can be good-natured. That is why dyspeptics are always irritable.

But stomach trouble can be cured in nearly all cases, even after years of suffering. Mrs. Sarah C. Ammons, Camden, S. C., says "I suffered from nervous dyspepsia for forty years and feared I should never get over it. It kept me in misery all the time. I was terribly run down, could not sleep—thought my health was ruined."

"Last spring I began taking Vinol and it has no equal. soon began to improve and now I am a well woman again for the first time in forty years. My appetite is good, I sleep well and have no stomach trouble at all. These are the plain facts."

Take our word for it, when you are weak and run down, cannot eat or sleep, Vinol is what you need for it will build you up and make you strong. We guarantee Vinol to please—your money back if it does not. F. B. Johnson & Co., Druggists.

what Poniotowsky said, understood that he was urging something which the girl did not wish to grant. When they left he rose as well, and at the door of the restaurant the actress and her companion paused, and Dan saw her face, deadly pale. There were tears in her eyes.

"For God's sake!" he heard her murmur, and she impatiently drew her cloak around her shoulders. Poniotowsky put out his hand to help her, but she drew back from him, exclaiming violently: "Oh, no—no!" Before he was aware what he was doing, Dan was holding his hand out to Miss Lane.

How she turned to him! God of dreams! How she took in one cold hand his hand; just the grasp a man needs to lead him to offer the service of his life. Her hand was icy—it thrilled him to his marrow.

"Oh—you!" she breathed. "Hello!" No words could have been more commonplace, less in the category of dramatic or poetic welcome, but they were music to the boy, and when the actress looked at him with a ghost of a smile on her trembling lips, Dan was sure there was some kind of blessing in the greeting.

"I am going to see you home," he said with determination, and she caught at it:

"Yes, yes, do! Will you?" The third member of the party had not spoken. A servant fetched him

NO REASON FOR IT

When Rushville Citizens Show the Way.

There can be no just reason why any reader of this will continue to suffer the tortures of an aching back the annoyance of urinary disorders the dangers of serious kidney ills when relief is so near at hand and the most positive proof given that these ills can be cured. Read what a Rushville citizen says:

Mrs. W. A. Wylie, 824 N. Arthur St., Rushville, Ind., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in our family and we have found them to be a splendid remedy for kidney complaint. A member of our family suffered from attacks of backache for several years, the trouble being caused by disordered kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to our attention and thinking they might prove of benefit, we procured a supply at F. B. Johnson & Co's Drug Store. The use of two boxes entirely relieved the backache and strengthened the kidneys. I publicly recommended Doan's Pills at that time and I still take pleasure in saying a good word for them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's and take no other.

Orrine for Drink Habit

a light to which he bent, touching his cigar. Then he lifted his head—a handsome one—with its cold and indifferent eyes, to Letty Lane.

"Good night, Miss Lane." A deep color crept under his dark skin.

"Come," said the actress eagerly, "come along; my motor is out there and I am crazy tired. That is all there is about it. Come along."

Snatched from a marriage contract, still bitter from his jealous anger, this—to be alone with her—by the side of this white, fragrant, wonderful creature—to have been turned to by her, to be alone with her, the duchess of Breakwater out of his horizon, Poniotowsky gone—Oh, it was sweet to him! They had rolled out from the Carlton down toward the square and he put his arm around her waist, his voice shook:

"You are dead tired! And when I saw that brute with you tonight I could have shot him."

"Take your arm away, please."

"Why?"

"Take it away. I don't like it. Let my hand go. What's the matter with you? I thought I could trust you."

He said humbly: "You can—certainly you can."

"I am tired—tired—tired!"

Under his breath he said: "Put your head on my shoulder, Letty, darling."

And she turned on him nearly as violently as she had on Poniotowsky, and burst into tears, crouching almost in the corner of the motor away from him, both her hands upon her breast.

"Oh, can't you see how you bother me? Can't you see I want to rest and be all alone? You are like them all—like them all. Can't I rest anywhere?"

The very words she used were those he had thought of when he saw her dance at the theater, and his heart broke within him.

"You can," he stammered, "rest right here. God knows I want you to rest more than anything. I won't touch you or breathe again or do anything you don't want me to."

She covered her face with her hands and sat so without speaking to him. The light in her motor shone over her like a kindly star, as, wrapped in her filmy things, she lay, a white rose blown into a sheltered nook. After a little she wiped her eyes and said more naturally:

"You look perfectly dreadfully, boy! What have you been doing with yourself?"

They had reached the Savoy. It seemed to Dan they were always just driving up to where some one opened a door, out of which she was to fly away from him. He got out before her and helped her from the car.

"Well, I've got a piece of news to tell you. I have broken my engagement with the duchess."

This brought her back far enough into life to make her exclaim: "Oh, I am glad! That's perfectly fine! I don't know when I've heard anything that pleased me so much. Come and see me tomorrow and tell me all about it."

CHAPTER XXI.

Ruggles Returns.

Dan did not fall asleep until morning, and then he dreamed of Blairtown and the church and a summer evening and something like the drone of the flies on the window pane soothed him, and came into his waking thoughts, for at noon he was violently shaken by the shoulder and a man's voice called him as he opened his eyes and looked into Ruggles' face.

"Gee Whittaker!" Ruggles exclaimed. "You are one of the seven sleepers! I've been here something like seventeen minutes, whistling and making all kinds of barnyard noises."

As Dan welcomed him, rubbing the sleep from his eyes, Ruggles told him that he had come over "the pond" just for the wedding.

"There isn't going to be any wedding, Josh! Got out of all that last night."

Ruggles had the breakfast card in his hand, which the waiter had brought in, and Dan, taking it from his friend, ordered a big breakfast.

"I'm as hungry as the dickens, Rug, and I guess you are, too."

"What was the matter with the duchess?" Ruggles asked. "Were you too young for her, or not rich enough?"

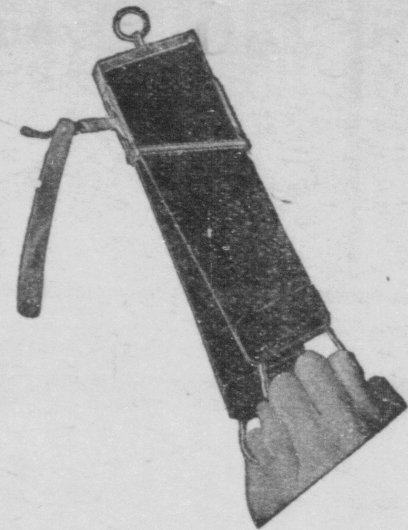

Significantly the boy answered: "One too many, Josh," and Ruggles winced at the response.

"Here are the fellows with my trunks and things," he announced as the porters came in with his luggage. "Just drop them there, boys; they're going to fix some kind of a room later."

Blair's long silk-lined coat lay on a chair where he had flung it, his hat beside it, and Ruggles went over to the corner and lifted up a fragrant glove. It was one of Letty Lane's gloves which Dan had found in the motor and taken possession of. The young man had gone to his dressing room and begun running his bath, and Ruggles, laying the glove on the table, said to himself:

"I knew he would get rid of the duchess, all right."

But when Dan came back into the room later in his dressing gown for breakfast, Ruggles said:

"You'll have to send her back her glove, Dannie."

At the sight of it beside the breakfast tray Dan blushed scarlet. He picked up the fragrant object.

"That's all right; I'll take care of it."

"Is 'Mandalay' running the same as ever?" Ruggles asked over his bacon and eggs.

"Same as ever."

Ruggles saw he had not returned in vain, and that he was destined to take up his part of the business just as he had laid it out for himself to Lord Galorey. "It's up to me now; I'll have to take care of the actress, and I'm darned if I haven't got a job. If Dan colors up like that at the sight of her glove, I wonder what he does when he holds her hand!"

RHEUMATISM

Yields Readily to Simple Remedy—
Well-Known American Chemist Discovers Process for Making Sulphur Soluble.

For centuries it was known to the great men of medical science that Nature has provided a certain, yet simple remedy for Rheumatism, Gout and Blood Disease, the hope of those so afflicted lay in the use of sulphur.
And now Nature has given up her secret. A great chemist has succeeded in making sulphur as soluble as sugar or salt. Heretofore sulphur could be and was taken with great benefit even though insoluble, but now it can be absorbed directly into the blood and thus accomplish wonderfully curative results.
SULFOSOL is the name of this new vitalizer of the blood, this expeller of uric-acid and other blood taints and conqueror of Rheumatism and Gout. Get it of your nearest druggist or write to the Sulfosol Company, 72 Trinity Place, New York, for a free book on Rheumatism and Blood Disease and the successful use of Sulfosol in their treatment.
Try a cake of Sulfosol Soap today to satisfy yourself of its virtues.

MANCHUS ARE AT THE LAST DITCH

China's Unpopular Rulers May Be Overthrown.

GREAT REBELLION SPREADING

Revoit Against the Despised Manchus Has Gained Such Force With the Recent Training of Soldiers in the Way of Modern Arms That the Government is Now Facing Open Mutiny in All Leading Provinces.

Shanghai, Oct. 13.—Wuchang, Hanyang and the arsenal and powder factory at Hankow are in the hands of the revolutionists. The railway is held by 2,000 men. It is reported that the bridges of the Pekin & Hankow railway have been destroyed. The loyal gunboats in the Yangtze have been fired upon and in turn bombarded Wuchang.

Pekin, Oct. 13.—The indications as the rebellion gains in force are that the government is confronted by the most formidable danger since the Taiping rebellion. A message may arrive at any moment of a sympathetic outbreak at Canton, where the agitation has long been simmering. Families are making their exodus from Hongkong. There is also danger of mutiny at Nanking, where the Twelfth division has given signs of disaffection.
There is also unrest at Anhui and Changsha.

In view of the fact that the Nupah section is policed by a battalion of the same troops whose comrades joined the revolutionary movement, mutiny there seems likely. Even the best division is notoriously lacking in ammunition. Thus the fall of China's arsenal at Hanyang is of grave importance.

The Taching government bank has learned with dismay that the mint, with 2,000,000 taels of government silver, has been captured. From Hanyang it is learned that the present success of the rebels does not encourage the Szechuen rebels. The revolutionaries are confident that they will be able to induce the Honan troops to join them. The report of the death of General Chang Piao is false. The general escaped and joined the viceroys, who took refuge aboard a gunboat.
Colonel Toraisi, the instructor of the Wuchang military academy, and other Japanese left Wuchang safely. It is reported that government buildings in Wuchang have been destroyed.

China is learning the folly of stationing troops in the province of their birth.

Yin Chang, minister of war in Manchu, has been ordered by imperial edict to take two northern divisions to Hankow in order to suppress the rebellion.
If he starts at once he can reach Hankow in two weeks, assuming that the railway communication is not interrupted.

PEACE NEARING

Believed That War Between Italy and Turkey is About Over.

Tripoli, Oct. 13.—Nineteen transports conveying the second Italian expeditionary force have arrived here.
A march to the hinterland is imminent.

Rome, Oct. 13.—The chief of the local Arabs, according to a dispatch from Tobruk, boarded the warship Pisa and offered submission to the Italian government.

Washington, Oct. 13.—State department officials express the view that with the German emperor working on his ally, the king of Italy, and the czar of Russia in a favorable position to influence the porte, peace between Italy and Turkey is not far off and that an armistice at least can be arranged as soon as Turkey is prepared to admit that Italy is in technical possession of Tripoli.

Couldn't Stand Reverses.

Lebanon, Ind., Oct. 13.—John B.
Witt, aged seventy-five, one of the best known citizens here, committed suicide at his home in this city by sending a bullet into his right temple.
Witt was formerly well to do. Financial reverses are believed the cause of the suicide.

Neighbors in Deadly Quarrel.
Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 13.—While quarrelling over trespassing cattle, Everett Bowman was shot and probably fatally injured on his farm west of Flanagan. Albert Parks is accused of the shooting.

The Deadly Live Wire.

Warsaw, Ind., Oct. 13.—Wilbur Sechler, aged eleven, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sechler of Milford, came in contact with an electric wire while shaking hickory nuts from a tree and was killed.

Will Meet at Shelbyville.

Sullivan, Ind., Oct. 13.—The Indiana synod of the Presbyterian church, which has adjourned its session here, decided on Shelbyville as its next meeting place.

WANTS IT STRICKEN OUT

Trust Buster Objects to Being Called Liar by Opponents.

Washington, Oct. 13.—Seldom in the history of the supreme court has the lie been so nearly passed as it was when J. C. McReynolds, special assistant to Attorney General Wickersham, flatly denied the charges of the anthracite coal trust's attorneys that the government's counsel had been guilty of "studied, deliberate and inexcusable misrepresentation" in their briefs against the alleged combine.

He demanded that this language be stricken out, and the court promised to consider his motion.

GIVEN NINETY DAYS
TO COME TO TIME

Court Orders Dissolution of Electric Trust.

Toledo, Oct. 13.—The General Electric company, the Westinghouse Electric, the National Lamp company and thirty-three other companies engaged in the manufacture and sale of incandescent lamps and lamp machinery, declaring that their desire was to comply with all of the provisions of the statutes of the United States and that they did not know their acts had been unlawful, threw themselves on the mercy of Judge Killits in the federal court here. The companies withdrew their answers to the government suit charging a monopoly in restraint of trade and submitted those matters to the court on the petition of the government.

Judge Killits then rendered a decree in favor of the government. The decree in effect orders the General Electric company to conduct all its business under its own name and the dissolution of the National Electric Lamp company and its subsidiary corporations. The contention of the government was that the General Electric company and its subsidiary corporations had entered into an unlawful combination in restraint of trade.

The defendants are given ninety days to comply with the terms of the decree. It is understood that a similar decree in the grocers' trust case will be entered in a few days.

Delay in Bigamy Hearing.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 13.—The case of Peter Paul Apkins of Chicago, charged with bigamy, was continued here until January. Apkins, it is alleged, married Miss Elizabeth Young of this city immediately after marrying Mrs. Bertha Kohler of Richmond, Ind. Shortly after marrying Miss Young, Apkins deserted her in Cincinnati, it is charged, and Miss Young died a few weeks afterward.

Says She Couldn't "Stand Him."

New York, Oct. 13.—Supreme Court Justice Delaney has signed an interlocutory decree of divorce for Mrs.
Elizabeth M. Chester from George Randolph Chester, writer of the "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" stories. Mrs.
Chester accused her husband of misconduct with a woman, and said that she left him last January because she "could not stand him any longer."

Triplets Receive Much Attention.

Stirling, Ill., Oct. 13.—Triplets, all girls, with a total weight of eighteen pounds, were born to Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kelley. Hundreds of women are paying homage to them and buying them immense wardrobes. Efforts are being made by public spirited citizens to start a savings account for them.

More Fish Hatcheries.

Indianapolis, Oct. 13.—George W.
Miles, state fish and game commissioner, has gone to Columbia City to begin the construction of a fish hatchery at that place. From there he expected to go to Knox, where another hatchery is contemplated.

SEEK TO ENJOIN
PRISON LABOR

Suit Brought Against Indiana Reformatory.

UNION LABOR COMPLAINANT

It is Alleged in an Injunction Suit Brought in Indianapolis That Contract Whereby the Indiana Reformatory Furnishes Prison Labor to Indiana Manufacturing Company is Unlawful and Detrimental to People.

Indianapolis, Oct. 13.—Edgar A. Perkins, president of the Indiana State Federation of Labor, and Peter J.
Shaughnessy, business agent for the Indiana Conference of the Iron Molders' Union of Indiana, have brought suit in superior court, asking that the board of trustees and the general superintendent of the Indiana reformatory be permanently enjoined from carrying out a convict labor contract with the Indiana Manufacturing company. The plaintiffs allege that the existing contract between defendants is illegal under the law of Indiana, and that by virtue of the contract, thousands of workmen in Indiana are deprived of labor.

The Indiana Manufacturing company is an Indiana corporation and is engaged in molding and manufacturing various kinds of hollow ware within the walls of the Indiana reformatory, using convict labor. It is alleged that such an arrangement is unlawful and that it is detrimental to the citizens of Indiana.

SHORTAGES REPORTED

Accountants Complete Inspection of Terre Haute Records.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 13.—A number of actual shortages and lack of records or books which indicate a considerably larger shortage is shown by the report of the accountants on the city's books made to the council. As a result of the discovery that Frank Hay, deputy city clerk, gave private receipts for fines, his dismissal followed a few days ago. He was formerly a representative in the legislature. There is a shortage reported in the accounts of Edgar Schmidt, former city engineer.
The accountants report that there was no bookkeeping in the city engineer's office, but they do not involve Donn Roberts, the present engineer.

An item of $70 had to be accounted for and Roberts produced a receipt from President Patrick B. Walsh of the board of public works, his political enemy in the quarrel which has resulted in Roberts getting an injunction to prevent his removal from office.

There is a deficit reported in the accounts of Charles M. Fortune, now judge of the circuit court, while he was judge of the city court, but he says it is due to a misapportionment of fees to the state and that he overpaid the state.

There is a total of $127,514 unpaid taxes for street improvements, much of which is long delinquent, and some of which is due from men whose financial standing is high. One account is fifteen years old.

VALUABLES BURN

Fire in Express Office at Logansport Causes Heavy Loss.

Logansport, Ind., Oct. 13.—Fire from a defective flue destroyed the depot office of the Adams Express company at the Panhandle station and many valuable express packages were burned. Bags containing several thousand dollars in silver burned and water played on the fire by firemen scattered silver dollars, quarters and halves in all directions. The loss can not be estimated until the agent in-voices the express matter. Many burned express packages are said to have been valuable.

Grand Jury Investigating.

Jasper, Ind., Oct. 13.—While Mr. and Mrs. John Sandeleck were in their bed asleep, some unknown person driving past their home fired a pistol shot through one of the windows of the room in which they were sleeping, and the bullet entered the bedstead. Mr.
Sandeleck, his son and neighbors followed the buggy and they say they ascertained who was in it. The matter has been referred to the grand jury.

Hasn't Been Seen Since.

Indianapolis, Oct. 13.—James Cheezum, thirteen years old, was run down by an automobile in North Noble street. The car passed over him, but his condition is not serious. Witnesses say the driver stopped after the boy had been dragged about fifteen feet and then left, saying he would return with a physician. He was not seen again.

Burglaries at South Bend.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 13.—John Shea was robbed in a park and the Mobile candy store entered by burglars who were frightened away before they used explosives, which were found near the safe. Several dwellings have been entered and the police believe a "gentlemanly burglar" is working in the city.

LOCAL NEWS

J. Walter Wilson, beginning Sunday, will have charge of the Main Street Christian church choir. Mr. Wilson had charge of the choir at the Tabernacle Christian church in Columbus for almost four years and is an able director.

Mrs. Yocum's Bible school class will conduct an exchange all day Saturday in the room in Main street, formerly occupied by Fred Caldwell. Cottage cheese, cream, country butter, bread, pies, cakes, etc., will be on sale.

Shelbyville Democrat: The Belt Auto Traction company reported yesterday that the line from here to Moscow would be put into operation just as soon as the road from Blue Ridge to Moscow was in condition to run a car over it. The manager stated that the road from the two towns mentioned was in very bad condition and that it would not be safe to run the car over it until the road was in better shape.

Jack Norworth and Nora Bayes will not be seen at English's in Indianapolis tonight. Their engagement in "Little Miss Fix-It" has been cancelled, owing to the necessity for a slight operation on Miss Bayes' throat.

BRACONNIER (43733)

Is a black Percheron, weight 1850 pounds, sound and an excellent breeder. While he is 13 years of age, he is vigorous and as sure as a breeder as his sire.

BRACONNIER was foaled May 15 1898 and was imported from France by J. Crouch & Son, of Lafayette, Ind.

BRACONNIER will be sold October 27, 1911, at the Rushville Combination Horse Sale.

ALEX (1197)

Is a German Coach Stallion, color bay, height about 16 hands, and weight 1300 pounds, is a first-class breeder and a sure foal getter.

ALEX will be sold October 20, 1911, at the Rushville Combination Horse Sale. The reason for selling this pair of stallions is that they have been in the neighborhood so long that the country surrounding our stables is no longer available because of the great number of their get being in the community.

Persons wishing further information regarding these stallions address:

HUNTERS SHOULD KNOW GAME LAW

Must First Procure a License and is Responsible for Any Injury to Property.

DUCK SEASON OPENED OCT. 1

With the opening of the duck season, which began on October 1, the thoughts of local nimrods are beginning to turn toward hunting trips, and an accurate knowledge of the game law may save the payment of a fine.

Duck hunting at this time of the year is not especially good, as only the varieties of water fowls which remains in this section all summer are to be found.

With the approach of cold weather the ducks which have been north will start their annual migration, and by Oct. 1 numbers of ducks and mud hens will be frequenting the lakes and rivers. Hunting will be good until Thanksgiving or thereabouts. In the spring, when the ducks return they may be shot until April 15.

Any person wishing to hunt must first procure a license, the cost of which is $1. A larger fee is charged non-residents. The hunter is responsible for any and all injury to property he may commit while hunting. There is also a provision against the shipping of deer or game birds out of the State.

NEW TRAIN FOR C. H. & D

General Passenger Agent Says it Comes With Change.

Walter B. Calloway, general passenger agent of the B. & O. S. W., C. H. & D. has announced that when the new time card of the C. H. & D. goes into effect next month several important changes will be made in train operation. The principal change will be the Chicago service, the present train leaving Cincinnati at 8:20 a. m. being changed to depart from Cincinnati at 9 o'clock, and making the run in eight hours. These trains will be of the finest vestibule, parlor car equipment and will provide faster service via the C. H. & D. and the Monon than ever before.

REPORT SUPPORTS THEORY

Physicians Believes Cast of Poliomyelitis Comes From Hogs.

Close upon the heels of the issuance of a circular letter to physicians of the state by the state board of health urging them to obtain data regarding the transmission of poliomyelitis, Dr. H. B. Hatfield, of Union, Pike county, yesterday reported a case of infantile paralysis to the board, which he believes may have originated from hogs, says the Indianapolis Star. The case was reported from a farm on which two hogs had died with paralysis. A paralyzed dog in the town of Union lends further evidence to the theory, said the physician. Two cases of the disease have been reported from Kosciusko county and the attending physician has written the state officials that chickens on the same farm have shown signs of paralysis.

SOME NOISE THIS!

Jacksonian: The hall was crowded to its full capacity and when the senator arose to speak he received a round of applause which shook the building to its foundation.

Connersville News: John Kern should restrain himself in the interest of conservation of human life. Buildings have been known to topple over or collapse when shook to their foundations. Besides, it's hard on the plastering.
